

Service office in Missoula, MT, I hope that Secretary Glickman will review the Forest Service reorganization plan and that he will stop any actions which make no sense—like the proposed Missoula closure.

Although I remain concerned about the need for expanded agricultural research and stability within the Agricultural Research Service, I know that before stations are closed, Secretary Glickman will help identify critical research and make certain such research is not unnecessarily eliminated just to show that locations are being cut.

Finally, today I am heartened that we will soon see a heightened sense of cooperation between the Department of Agriculture and the Department of the Interior. Whether it is animal damage control on our Forest Service and Bureau of Land Management properties or prevention of the spread of brucellosis between bison and cattle, I know we can expect greater teamwork.

I am confident that Mr. Glickman is well prepared for the challenges ahead of him. I congratulate him and I look forward to rolling up our sleeves and getting to work.

Thank you Mr. President. I yield the floor.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Mr. DOLE. I now ask that the Senate return to legislative session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the Senate will return to legislative session.

COMMENDING CHICK REYNOLDS ON THE OCCASION OF HIS RETIREMENT

Mr. DOLE. I send a resolution to the desk on behalf of myself and Senator DASCHLE and ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will state the resolution by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 96) commending Chick Reynolds on the occasion of his retirement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the immediate consideration of the resolution?

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

RETIREMENT OF CHICK REYNOLDS

Mr. DOLE. Mr. President, our friend Chick Reynolds, chief reporter of the Official Reporters of Debates, has notified the Secretary of the Senate that he intends to retire effective July 7, 1995.

Mr. Reynolds' remarkable Senate career began in 1974 when he was appointed an official reporter of debates. He later became the chief reporter in 1988. Mr. Reynolds' service has been honorable as well as memorable—his reporting has often landed him in the center of the day's headlines.

In his two decades of service, Mr. Reynolds reported Federal agency hearings and various committee testimonies in both the House and the Senate, including such notable events as the Joseph McCarthy and Jimmy Hoffa hearings. He covered the White House during the Kennedy, Johnson, and Nixon administrations.

And Mr. Reynolds is truly a part of our country's great history. During his assignment in the Kennedy administration, he reported President Kennedy's famous Berlin speech and was in the Presidential motorcade on that tragic day in Dallas, when President Kennedy was assassinated.

Mr. Reynolds has served the Senate and the Nation with distinction and loyalty for over 20 years. I know all Senators will join me in wishing Chick and his wife, Lucille, our sincere gratitude and our prayers in his retirement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the resolution is agreed to and the preamble is agreed to.

So the resolution (S. Res. 96) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, is as follows:

Whereas Chick Reynolds will retire from service to the United States Senate after twenty years as a member of the staff of the Official Reporters of Debates;

Whereas he has served the United States Senate with honor and distinction since joining the staff of the Official Reporters of Debates on July 1, 1974;

Whereas his hard work and outstanding excellence as an official reporter resulted in his appointment to the position of Chief Reporter on May 1, 1988;

Whereas, Chick Reynolds, as Chief Reporter of the Congressional Record, has at all times executed the important duties and responsibilities of his office with great efficiency and diligence;

Whereas Chick Reynolds has demonstrated loyal dedication to the United States Senate as an institution and leaves a legacy of superior and professional service: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the United States Senate expresses its deep appreciation and gratitude to Chick Reynolds for his years of faithful and exemplary service to his country and to the United States Senate.

SEC. 2. The Secretary shall transmit a copy of this resolution to Chick Reynolds.

Mr. DOLE. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

NOMINATION OF DANIEL ROBERT GLICKMAN, OF KANSAS, TO BE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE

The Senate continued with the consideration of the nomination.

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, let me join with the others who have risen in support of this important nomination. I want to thank the majority leader for bringing this matter to the floor at this time. This is a very important and timely issue for a lot of reasons.

Obviously, there are many extraordinary decisions that the Senate and Congress must make over the course of the next several months, and we need the leadership that Congressman Glickman can provide in this regard.

There are many who would like to begin working with him very earnestly, at the earliest possible date, to begin the process of developing another 5-year farm bill. We need to get on with that. We need to recognize how important it is that this farm bill be passed expeditiously.

Certainly, the sooner we can get this nomination confirmed, the better. I am excited about this nomination for a lot of reasons. I believe that Dan Glickman is perhaps one of the most qualified people to be nominated for this position, at least in recent memory.

He understands the importance of agriculture, of rural America, of all of the challenges that we face as we consider the transition that rural America is now experiencing.

He is extraordinary on creative bipartisan consensus on policy issues, as well as on the strategy regarding a number of the legislative matters that will come before the Senate. I believe that his bipartisan consensus building skills will serve everyone well.

Dan Glickman has served in the Congress for a long time. As a member of the House Agriculture Committee, he has been the leader on countless legislative issues relating to farm bills and agriculture. He deserves our support. We all recognize the leadership he has provided. He deserves the kind of consideration that he is being given this evening.

Mr. President, I think it is also important to note that Dan Glickman is one of the most accessible people I know. He is willing to go the extra mile, to talk with people, to be available as questions arise, both on and off the hill. He is willing to travel. He is willing to go out into the far reaches of this country to address in the most meaningful and considered way the broad range of issues that the Secretary of Agriculture must consider.

He is an outstanding legislator who is ready to lead on a whole range of issues that I know will be on his desk in the not-too-distant future. He has been an advocate of increasing trade with other countries. While he had specific reservations about the most recent trade agreement, Dan Glickman understands how important trade is, how important it is that we reach out to other countries and create new markets.

He recognizes, as well, the value of the new market development that we need to improve farm prices. He recognizes that value-added markets are really the key to long-term agricultural development. We cannot look to the farm bill to create artificial price mechanisms. We have to go out and build the markets both internationally and domestically.

I have had many conversations over the course of the last several months with Dan on this point. I am pleased at his enthusiastic response to the desire that many share with regard to building value-added markets in the future.

Dan Glickman also understands the importance of the next generation of agriculture. He knows that the farm community is getting older, that the farm community is getting to the point where, indeed, we must look to the next generation for the long-term future and viability of agriculture. He knows we have to help young farmers. He knows that the only way to do that is to provide a better price.

Dan Glickman also understands the importance of conservation. Conservation has been an issue that he has worked on for many years. He realizes the importance of the CRP program and the efforts that we made to address soil erosion. He understands the importance of research in providing for the efforts to conserve our soil and to do more in the realm of providing for long-term environmentally sound responses to the agricultural practices of the past.

So, Dan Glickman is a very futuristic individual. He understands that we made an investment that ought to be protected, but he understands, as well, the need to refocus that investment as warranted.

Mr. President, it is with great enthusiasm that I come to the floor this evening to support his nomination, to again reiterate my view that there are few people that have come to the Senate in support or in recognition of the need for agricultural policy that have been as qualified as this person is.

Dan Glickman deserves strong bipartisan support. Given the remarks made by the majority leader and others in the Senate Agriculture Committee, I am confident that there will be overwhelming support demonstrated in our vote for him tomorrow.

Once he becomes Secretary, I look forward to working with him. I know for the next couple of years his plate will be full and his agenda will be long, but, I think there also will be a good deal of willingness on both sides of the aisle to work with him to ensure that he is successful.

Our country depends upon the talents of a Dan Glickman. Our future in agriculture depends upon his leadership. It is critical that we cooperate with Dan as he continues to provide that leadership.

Mr. President, I hope that we can demonstrate with enthusiasm tomorrow how strongly we feel about this nomination, how hopeful we are about his success and how determined we can be about our willingness to cooperate as he begins his task. I yield the floor.

Mr. EXON addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nebraska.

Mr. EXON. Mr. President, I want to add my voice to the strong support that has been evident for a long time with the President's new nominee for the Secretary of Agriculture, former Congressman Dan Glickman, from my neighboring State of Kansas.

Mr. President, much has been said about this dedicated, talented individual. I have heard statements made by Senator LEAHY, the ranking Democrat on this side of the Agriculture Committee; by the majority leader, Senator DOLE, who has, as he has indicated in his remarks on the floor a few moments ago, the record as the longest sitting member of the Agriculture Committee; and just a few moments ago by the minority leader, from my neighboring State to the north, South Dakota, the minority leader, Senator DASCHLE.

They all summed up very, very well, the regard that the nominee had by those who know him the best. I have known him for a long, long time. I have worked with him on foreign policy ever since I have been in the U.S. Senate.

He is one who thoroughly understands the farm programs, but more importantly, what an important part agriculture is to the overall economy of the United States of America.

I remind all once again that, if it were not for the offsetting factor of exports of farm products, the balance of trade deficit that the United States has would skyrocket dramatically. Dan Glickman understands agriculture. He knows the serious situation that agriculture is facing today. I am delighted that the majority leader has called for the vote on tomorrow morning.

I am anxious to begin working with the new Secretary of Agriculture because, as the lead Democrat on the Budget Committee, the new agricultural leader knows, the Agricultural Committee knows, the Appropriations Committee knows, that the actions that will take place in the Budget Committee in the near future are going to have a great deal to do with how successful the new Secretary of Agriculture will be in writing a workable farm program and policy.

I have not been in a position, nor has he, during this waiting period which held up his assuming this new role in even a more timely fashion—it was not possible for me to sit down with him and talk specifics about what his recommendations will be with regard to the recommendations out of the Budget Committee for the total agricultural programs.

Dan Glickman will do a great job. I will listen to his recommendations very carefully with regard to the farm program. Given the fact we are going to have to make some very, very hard choices on a whole series of issues if we are going to get ourselves on the road to a balanced budget by the year 2002—which I think obviously is the overwhelming goal of Members of the Congress on both sides of the aisle and in both Houses—it is, therefore, critically important we get Dan Glickman on board as soon as we make the confirmation tomorrow and as soon as the President goes through the formality, which I hope will follow almost instantaneously. Then Dan Glickman can take over fully the important function of Secretary of Agriculture of the United States of America and, for that matter, the Secretary of Agriculture for the whole free world.

I urge as near a unanimous vote as possible. I would not be surprised if the vote of the Senate was unanimous tomorrow morning. I am looking forward to working with my great friend, Dan Glickman, who will be the new Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from South Dakota.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Mr. PRESSLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate return to legislative session, to the bill, for purposes of my offering an amendment that has been agreed to on both sides regarding grazing permits for cattle in certain parts of the United States.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

EMERGENCY SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS ACT

The Senate continued with the consideration of the bill.

AMENDMENT NO. 425 TO AMENDMENT NO. 420

(Purpose: To extend the terms of permits for grazing on National Forest System lands to allow time for compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 in connection with permit renewals)

Mr. PRESSLER. Mr. President, on behalf of myself, Mr. THOMAS, Mr. SIMPSON, and others, I send an amendment to the desk that has been approved on both sides and that the chairman of the Interior appropriations subcommittee has approved, and I ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The bill clerk read as follows:

The Senator from South Dakota [Mr. PRESSLER], for himself, Mr. THOMAS, and Mr. SIMPSON proposes an amendment numbered 425 to amendment No. 420.

Mr. PRESSLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

At the appropriate place insert the following:

SEC. . RENEWAL OF PERMITS FOR GRAZING ON NATIONAL FOREST LANDS.

Notwithstanding any other law, at the request of an applicant for renewal of a permit that expires on or after the date of enactment of this Act for grazing on land located in a unit of the National Forest System, the Secretary of Agriculture shall reinstate, if necessary, and extend the term of the permit until the date on which the Secretary of Agriculture completes action on the application, including action required under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.).
